Air freight	separate	$1,241.00	See note
Inland freight Brazil	separate	$1,012.17	NEW on invoice
Airline terminal fee (Brazil SSA)	absent	$345.00	NEW
Export clearance BRA + SDA	absent	$414.59	NEW

Charge	2023 (Seacoast)	2026 (5 Continent)	Status
Palletizing	absent	$65.00	NEW
Storage (SSA + Saturday)	absent	$112.19	NEW
Door delivery (inland US)	absent	$885.00	NEW
Additional invoice lines (8 x $5)	absent	$40.00	NEW
Duty advance fee (10%)	absent	$12.85	NEW
Bank fee	absent	$35.00	NEW

The answer: 9 charges new in 2026

These lines appear on the 2026 invoice and had no counterpart line on the 2023 invoice:

1. Inland freight in Brazil — $1,012.17
2. Airline terminal fee, Brazil SSA — $345.00
3. Clearance, export customs BRA + SDA — $414.59
4. Palletizing — $65.00
5. Storage (SSA + Saturday fee) — $112.19
6. Inland freight, delivery to door — $885.00
7. Additional invoice lines (8 x $5) — $40.00
8. Duty advance fee (10%) — $12.85
9. Bank fee — $35.00

New-line subtotal: $2,921.80.

The structural change

In 2023 the forwarder invoice was US-side only — five lines: customs clearance, import handling, FDA processing, duties, and the US airline terminal fee. The Brazil-side export work existed but was billed separately (an Omega "numerario" of R$4,000 plus a R$864.15 transport CT-e), so it never appeared on the forwarder invoice.

In 2026 the same forwarder invoice is end-to-end: it absorbs the entire Brazil-side export chain (inland freight, Brazil terminal fee, export clearance, palletizing, storage) plus a door-delivery leg and three new administrative fees (per-line billing, duty advance, bank fee).

Two things to weigh, not assume

- Size is not the explanation for most of this. The 2026 shipment is about 3.4x the weight (349 vs 104 kg). Weight-scaled lines (air freight, duties) move with that. But palletizing, storage, the per-line fee, the duty advance fee, and the bank fee are flat or structural — they are not weight-scaled, so shipment size does not account for them.

• Some "new" items are genuinely new scope, not new charges for old scope. Door delivery and export clearance were not done by the forwarder in 2023, so charging for them is defensible in principle. The question is whether the amounts and the add-ons (storage, per-line fee, duty advance, bank fee) are reasonable and were agreed.

Caveat on scope

This compares forwarder invoices. It is not a full landed-cost comparison: 2023's Brazil-side costs were real but sat on a separate invoice. A true like-for-like landed cost needs the 2023 Omega numerario and CT-e brought into scope. This table answers the specific question asked: which line items are on the 2026 invoice that were not on the 2023 one.
